REUNION OF FOLK FROM SOUTH SEAS

Pacific Islanders' Day Occasion Of a Big Gathering at Farmington Resort.

PRESIDENT SMITH THERE.

Venerable Church Leader Tells of His Experiences-Interesting Program Is Enjoyed by Visitors.

Yesterday's reunion of the Pacific Islands missions which took place at the Lagoon was remarkable for the large attendance of former missionarjes and members of the Church who have come from those parts. This is true of nearly all the missions of the Pacific, and it was noticed that there was also a larger representation than usual from the Australian mission. The crowds came early and stayed late and though tired with the exertions of the day, everybody expressed themselves as pleased with the outing which selves as pleased with the outing which was a great success.

The day was an ideal Pacific Islanders' day, the warmth giving the suggestion to many of those present of the humid air of the sea girt tropical islands, or summer in New Zealand and Australia. Some of those present who have lately come from those parts, remembering last winter, said "this weather is something like the sunny south," and they almost forgot they were thousands of miles away from the palm trees and cocoanut groves of the islands and the eternal "bush" of New Zealand and Australia, which to the natives of those parts seem almost a part of themselves, and hundreds of miles from the ocean which some of them thought they could never leave.

SOME FORMER PRESIDENTS. SOME FORMER PRESIDENTS.

In addition to a large number of leading ciders from the various missions the following former presidents of missions were noticed in the throng. New Zealand: Elders Richards, Stevenson and Hoagland, Tahiti: Elders Cutler and Hall. Samoa: Elders Browning and Sears, Australia: Elders Smith, Islaub and Armstrong, Hawaii; Elder Noall. The visitors came from as far north as Idaho, and some were as far north as Idaho, and some were present from Wasatch, Sanpete and Tintle in the south. A feature of the occasion was the

A feature of the occasion was the presence of several Samoans who came in from Skull valley with a number of Hawailans. These natives constructed a Samoan house, which was a faithful reproduction of the regular native house on the islands, even to the pebbles which composed the floor. It was the object of much curiosity on the part of the visitors during the day, together with the curios which were shown, they having only recently been brought here from the islands.

Naturally the unusual things connected with the islanders' lives attracted much attention, and the program which was given in the afternoon contained much attention, and the program which was given in the afternoon contained a number of such features, among them being the greeting of missionaries by the Maoris, and an exhibition of the salutation. A representation of the greeting of elders at the Honolulu mission house was well shown and was greeting of elders at the Honolulu mission house was well shown and was much appreciated. "Leis," the beautiful floral bands with which from the immenorial the Hawalians bedeck their friends on arrival and departure, were very much in evidence, and perhaps to those who have visited the islands helped to recall their beauties more forcibly than any other one thing. Samoa was also represented for the first time in a dance, which was given just as it is done on the islands. is done on the islands.

For the purpose of giving the above exhibitions a stand was specially constructed in front of the grandstand, which was crowded with people when the time for the exhibition came. As the time for the exhibition came. As the opening hymn those present sang "High on the mountain top." Prayer was offered by Elder E. F. Richards and the benediction was pronounced at the close of the program by former President Sears of the Samoan mission. PRESIDENT SMITH'S ADDRESS.

President Joseph F. Smith was to have been present at the afternoon gathering to speak on reminiscences of his first trip to Hawall. He was detained on the way, and did not arrive until late in the afternoon. After partaking of dinner in company with Benjamin Goddard and his party as the guests of the Lagoon management, numerous recruests were made for Presiguests of the Lagoon management, numerous requests were made for President Smith's address, and shortly after 8 o'clock the big crowd adjourned to the dancing pavillion, where the people were called up close to the music stat \( \ell \), where they stood while President Smith in a short talk expressed his pleasure at being present, and then said:

"I believe that John T. Caine and "I believe that John T. Caine and myself and one or two others are the pioneers of mission wor," in the Pacific. In 1854 a company of young men, cincluding myself, left Salt Lake City on our first mission to the islands. We crossed the desert with mule teams and took steamer, from San Pedro to San cincluding myself, left Salt Lake City on our first mission to the islands. We crossed the desert with mule teams and took steamer from San Pedro to San Francisco. After staying there several months in order to get money to proceed to the islands, we shipped in a small two-masted barque.

The captain boasted that he would cross to Honolulu in eight days, but he made it in 27 days. When we landed in Honolulu it was a mere village. There were a few dwellings and mercantile houses, but nearly all the homes were grass nouses. We soon scattered over all the islands where some of us stayed four years learning the latiguage and trying to fill our missions."

Reference was also made to Addison Pratt and others going to Tahiti, after which President Smith said: "Since then the work has spread to Samoa and New Zealand. The people of those islands are Ishmaelites, and are descendants without doubt, of Lehf who left Jerusalem 600 years before Christ. They are warm bearted friends, and they are capable on provocation, of becoming bitter ensmies. The elders find them in their ministry to be warmhearted, true and kind. I never knew of one of these islanders losing faita in the gospel after he had espoused it. They may sin and sever their connection with the Caurch, but they do not turn bitter and aght the work. Those who have fallen away, generally humble themselves and ask to be restored to fellowship. It is no wonder that the elders are attached to the natives and that they desire to keep up the acquaintance by means of these rearry, President Smith said: "We were warmly rearrieved by every one. The

up the acquaintance by means of these reunions."

Referring to his visit there last February, President Smith said: "We were warmly received by every one. The Royal Hawalian band met us at the wharf and honored us by following us to the chonference house and there playing for us for two hours. This band is equal to any band in the country. In an international contest at San Francisco a few years ago they took the first prize. The leader of the band said to me. 'Mr. President, we have come of our own free will to play out of respect for you and your people, and out of remembrance of your treatment of us while we were in Salt Lake.' We were loaded down with flowers and feasted everywhere. When we remonstrated with the kind people one leading lady said, 'President Smith, all we ask of you is to remember that you are now in Hawail.'"

"The Wards of the Wizard of the Wasatch," is the name suggested for the organization to be incorporated in this city, for the purpose of annually greeting the sage of the mountains as he deigns to make his visitations with his regal queen, according to the proceedings had with regard to the matter in a meeting held last night.

The meeting was held at the Commercial club. The report of the committee, named at a previous session and consisting of Judge E. F. Colborn, H. Vance Lane, H. L. A. Culmet' and Fisher Harris, made the suggestion as to the name of the organization. It was also recommended that any reputable citizen of the United States, Canada, or Mexico be eligible for membership; that the board of directors consist of not more than 50 members, and that the temporary officers elected at a previous meeting be made permanent.

The report further recommends that on the evening of Aug. 9, 1909, a band of 25, "Wards of the Wizard," masked and wearing dominoes and mounted on snowwhite steeds proceed to the mouth of Emigration canion to meet the wizard. Then return to the Brigham Young monument at the head of Main street, where they will be joined by 300 horsemen, 500 native Indians and 300 red devils, and young men and women. After a parade about the principal streets of the city, the party will proceed to the Commercial club, where the Wizard will be received by Governor Spry, Mayor Bransford, Commanderin-Chief Nevius of the G. A. R., and Col. F. M. Sterrett, executive director of the encampment.

The Wizard will then inspect the decorations prepared for the reception of the G. A. R. veterans, and should they be satisfactory his wizardship will assure his valley subjects of his complete approval, set a date for his complet approval, set a date for his complete approval, set a date for Finds Steel Plants Rushed to Their Capacity-Western Pacific Equipment is Ordered.

S. V. Derrah, assistant general freight agent of the Denver & Rio Grande, and general passenger agent of the Western Pacific, has returned from an exteneded trip to New York and the east. Mr. Derrah visited at his old home in Pennsylvania, and spent some time in New York, where he was in consultation several times with the head officials of the Gould lines. "I was unfortunate, "however," said Mr. Derrah "in not seeing George Gould himself. He had sailed for Europe just the day before I arrived in New York."

York."

Air. Derrah said he visited a number of the big steel works at Pittsburg, and that they were crowded with orders and had more work on hand than they could get out. Business conditions in Pittsburg, continued Mr. Derrah, reflect a healthy period for the balance of the country. He said that orders for engines and equipment for the Western Pacific had been placed for as early delivery as possible, and that he expected to open the do well to watch the horticultural exhibit. Both in regard to the number and excellence of the exhibits and the decorations of the building, this year's show is expected to eclipse every exhibit given hitherto.

President McDonald was busily engaged yesterday with Decorator J. B. Ferguson, picking out decorations from two boxes of samples which came from Germany through a New York firm. Such faithful representations of fruits, leaves, grasses, flowers and grain, have never been seen here before. The grapes and other fruits are so life-like that at a distance of a couple of feet, a person would have to look twice to be sure they are not genuine. Mr. McDonald was very enthusiastic about the matter, and he says they propose this year to eclipse everything in the way of decorations.

In addition to intimations from other places that a large exhibit of fruit will be sent, Secy. Ensign says he has received word that Bear River valley will be represented by a car of fruits and vegetables. L. Hemenway, of Granger, has also entered for all premiums covered by apples, pears, peaches and prunes.

Althought the fruit crop was damaged by late frosts, the fruit exhibit this year in the exhibit of bottled fruits, and a number of inquiries about premiums for this class of exhibits are coming in, and it is the light crop of early fruits, and a number of inquiries about premiums for this class of exhibits are coming in, and it is the light crop of the management to encourage these exhibits, by offering a number of premiums.

"DO IT NOW"

Says a Correspondent in Regard to Sane Fourth Resolutions.

Deseret News: A few days ago mention was made in your paper of a resolution pertaining to a "sane" Fourth of July introduced in the city council by a certain councilman. Since then I have endeavored to follow the outcome of the commendable resolution and as yet have been unable to learn more re-garding it. We are aware that no action was taken in the matter before the Fourth, and consequently are led to believe the thing was dropped on account of the "lateness of the day." No dault the resultion was the Fourth, and consequently are led to believe the thing was dropped on account of the "lateness of the day." No doubt the resolution was the outcome of the general sentiment prevailing in favor of a saper and more orderly observance of our nation's birthday and of course was presented with the best motives. But would it not have been greatly unjust to the dealers of fireworks had the matter carried just before the Fourth or at the time it was first introduced? These people had already laid in their stock at considerable expense and to have deprived them of the privilege of selling upon such short notice would have been so manifestly wrong that even the city council acted wisely in not taking definite action under such circumstances. But conditions are changed now. Practically all the fireworks mentioned in the resolution have "gone off" and the merchant has his money back. The contemplated those could be made now without serious damare to anyone and if such a measure is to be passed when is a better time to pass it than now? Unfortunately the agitation of this subject has heretofore been delayed until a week or two before the hollday or until a time when it is quite impossible to act in a manner fair to all concerned. Immediately after the Fourth practically all discussion ceases and the whole matter is dropped just at the most opportune time for definite action. We believe in the same celebration of the Fourth and at the same time have reasons to believe the majority of the city councilmen are with us in the move. The resolution already presented should not rest in its pigeon hole until the next Independence Day but should receive its merited attention before even the wholesale dealers have placed their orders. "Do it now."
